Edible Food Rescue

California produces nearly half the nation's fruit and vegetables, yet 1 in 8 Californians struggle with food insecurity, or lack of access to food that one needs to live a healthy lifestyle.

Make a difference in your community by donating non-perishable and unspoiled perishable food items to food banks. Food donors come in all shapes and sizes, including supermarkets, restaurants, caterers, hotels, wholesalers, farmers and residents. Contact a local food bank or other food agencies to begin participating in a food rescue program today. For more information on how you can help go to: <https://www.capsbc.org/food-bank> Donate edible food to a food bank, or food rescue as appropriate. For food rescue information contact Community Action Partnership of San Bernardino County at (909) 723-1500 or Feeding America at (909) 359-4757

Edible Food Donation Requirements

To comply with SB 1383, commercial edible food generators are required to 1) divert organics from the landfill and 2) recover the maximum amount of their edible food that would otherwise go to landfills. See reverse side of this document for information about landfill diversion. To reduce food waste and address food insecurity, businesses are now required to arrange via contract to donate edible food to food banks, soup kitchens, and other food recovery organizations and services to help feed Californians in need. Recovery of edible food applies only to commercial food waste generators listed below. Inspections have begun and will occur annually.

How does my location become compliant?

Step 1:

Secure written agreements or contacts with food recovery organizations that receive your donation.

Step 2:

Begin donating excess edible food.

Step 3:

Maintain donation records at business location to be submitted to your city.

Are you a Tier 1 or Tier 2 generator?

Contamination of Recyclables Could Result in a Penalty Fee

Trash and other contaminants in the recycling or organics collection container(s) could result in a fee and non-collection due to contamination. If contamination is found, a contamination tag (as shown) will be taped on the container lid. After the first warning, customers will be charged a $51.64 contamination fee and the container will not be serviced as recyclable; it will be subsequently serviced as trash. Please note: the contamination fee will be automatically assessed if hazardous or bio-hazardous materials are placed in any collection container. Not sure about what goes in each container? Information is on the Burrtec website <https://www.burrtec.com/city/service-location/rancho-cucamonga/> or call Burrtec Customer Service at (909) 987-3717 for assistance. As always, thank you for your continued support and cooperation!
